

Federal Participation in USGBC LEED™ Committees

The table below lists LEED committees in three clusters: technical advisory groups, vertical markets, and “other.” Technical advisory groups develop the technical guidelines governing the awarding of LEED credits. Vertical market committees are developing mechanisms for the accrediting treatment of unique building components or activities. The “other” groups provide for USGBC-LEED policy development (e.g., Steering Committee or LEED 3.0) or overview of LEED activities from a particular overarching perspective (State/Local Government committee.)

Federal participants in each of these committees have been identified where known. Committee chairs with whom we have communicated are marked with an asterisk.
